

ABSTRACT

A probe is disclosed, comprising a beam 4B, which has a front end 4b1, an intermediate portion 4b2 and a base end 4b3, the front end being a portion for contacting a test subject through a contactor, the base end being a portion for fixing the probe; and a substantially trapezoidal contactor 4A, which is fixed to the leading end 4b1 of the beam.